3CDC wins real estate award

Cincinnati Center City Development Corp. has landed top honors from the local chapter of the National Association of Industrial and Office Properties.

3CDC will be among a group of entities recognized Thursday night during the chapter's annual "Night of the Stars" awards dinner, slated to be held downtown at the Hilton Cincinnati Netherland Plaza.

The non-profit private development firm has been named the recipient of the local chapter's 2008 Impact Award for its work downtown and in Over-the-Rhine

The chapter has also named the late Robert M. Mauk as the recipient the 2008 James Wuenker. The award honors individuals for their community service, professional excellence and personal integrity.

Mauk, who died in May, was an engineer at Kenner Toys and later founded RealTeam, which developed into a series of firms that ultimately landed as Colliers Turley Martin Tucker, one of the largest commercial real estate companies in the region.

Other awards for the evening will include Transaction of the Year, Developer of the Year, Broker of the Year, and Industrial and Office Deal of the Year.
